

Our impact

Since the launch of the Institute of Coding in 2018, we have:

ENGAGED MORE THAN 750,000 LEARNERS

by increasing teaching capacity for digital skills across higher education in England and Wales

EXPANDED NATIONALLY

to include 35 universities, educators and more than 200 employers (e.g. Amazon, Microsoft and IBM) working together to deliver innovative and transformative education

DIVERSIFIED ACCESS TO DIGITAL SKILLS

with women making up 46% of the learners on our online programmes, vs 16% of English Computer Science graduates

46% women

CREATED AWARD-WINNING PROGRAMMES

like TechUPWomen and the CTRL Your Future outreach campaign, and award-nominated programmes like the Digital Skills for the Workplace course collection

REACHED NEW PEOPLE

through a focused diversity campaign that had a potential readership of 850+ million in print/online media and more than 30 million social media impressions

CLEARED BARRIERS

and encouraged new collaboration between employers and educators through our close partnership with industry leaders and techUK
